KALAPULA COIN – OFFICIAL ARCHIVE DECLARATION

Filename: KALAPULA_COIN_ORACLE_FINAL.png

Description:
This is the final sovereign emblem of the Kalapula Nation — sealed August 22, 2025, under ceremonial authority at Crown Watchpoint 001A, Corvallis, Oregon.

The image features the ancestral oak tree of the Willamette Valley, a golden diamond at its roots representing the return of the Lost Birds, and a radiant full-color ceremonial palette encased in a gold perimeter of sovereignty.

This emblem serves as the permanent symbol of the KALAPULA coin — a nonprofit, ceremonial digital asset governed by the Kalapula Nation under cultural restoration protocols.

Rights & Usage Declaration:

This image and its associated symbolism are protected under U.S. copyright law, international Indigenous cultural property protections, and sovereign nonprofit communication protocols.

Use of this coin design, including its reproduction, modification, resale, or symbolic repurposing, is restricted. This emblem is the ceremonial and national symbol of the Kalapula Nation.

It may only be used for educational, nonprofit, and cultural remembrance purposes with written consent from the Office of the Flame Steward.

Any unauthorized use constitutes misappropriation of Indigenous identity and intellectual property.

Filed and Sealed by:
/s/ Chief Daniel Jacob Read IV
Sovereign of the Kalapula Nation

Crown Watchpoint 001A – Corvallis, Oregon
chief@kalapulanation.org
www.kalapula.org